

SENIOR AND DISABILITY VOTER GUIDE

November 3, 2020 Election

San Francisco Propositions

- A: YES Bond to fund housing, parks, accessibility, etc. Replaces an old bond, will not increase taxes.
- C: YES Allows SF residents who are not citizens to be on commissions and other government bodies.
- E: YES By removing the mandate for a minimum number of police officers, the City can reduce the police budget and move funding into housing, mental health, and other needed services.
- F: YES A business tax that would unlock Prop C funds for housing and child care.
- I: YES Increases tax on high-value ($10 million+) property, creating funding that could go for rent relief and affordable housing.
- J: YES Parcel tax for San Francisco Unified School District.
- K: YES Opens the door for a model of deeply affordable “social housing” for seniors and others.
- L: YES Tax on high-paid executives, freeing up funding for needed city services.

State Propositions

- 15: YES Schools and Communities First! Requires corporations to pay their fair share in property taxes. Will NOT affect residential property taxes. California desperately needs this money to pay for schools, health care, housing, and more.
- 16: YES Racial justice reparations—repeals Prop 209 and ends the ban on affirmative action in CA.
- 17: YES Voting justice—Restore voting rights for people on parole, many of whom are Latinx and African-American.
- 18: YES Lets 17-year-olds vote in primary elections if they will be 18 soon.
- 20: NO Lengthens prison terms – keeping more people, especially people of color, behind bars.
- 21: YES Repeals Costa-Hawkins, allowing cities to pass rent control and protect tenants
- 22: NO Uber and Lyft are trying to get away with not classifying their drivers as employees, so they don't have to follow minimum wage and other labor laws. Don't let them ruin worker protections!
- 23: YES Improves conditions at dialysis clinics and prohibits insurance discrimination.

Regional Measure RR: Yes Small sales tax to save Caltrain and protect public transit.

For more information, please go to www.sdaction.org, or contact us at info@sdaction.org.